Abstract: PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To provide a structure of packaging and device therefor by which a bag filled with an object or a batch of objects is sealed at ends in a manner of not allowing the end parts to loosen and the package is made to appear favorably and by virtue of which the contents hardly collapse.

SOLUTION: A packaging structure 1 is so designed that an object or a batch of objects for the packaging are put in a bag 2 formed of a packaging material consisting of a laminate having a plastic material as the outer layer and having the shape of a rectangular casing with two end parts open and, after that, the bag 2 is sealed at the two end parts. In this instance at least the end part 3 on one side is formed of a packaging material not containing the multilayer material and in a square plane and the package has for a pair of side edges opposed to each other and for a central part a pair of side-edge sealed parts 4, 4 and a central sealed part 5 respectively.
